"German Syrup"
Asthma.
"I have been a great sufferer from Asthma and severe Colds every Winter, and last Fall my friends as well as myself thought because of my feeble condition, and great distress from constant coughing, and inability to raise any of the accumulated matter from my lungs, that my time was close at hand. When nearly worn out for want of sleep and rest, a friend recommended me to try thy valuable medicine, Boschee's German Syrup. I am confident it saved my life. Almost the first dose gave me great relief and a gentle refreshing sleep, such as I had not had for weeks. My cough began immediately to loosen and pass away, and I found myself rapidly gaining in health and weight. I am pleased to inform thee—unsolicited—that I am in excellent health and do certainly attribute it to thy Boschee's German Syrup. C. B. STICKNEY, Picton, Ontario."

Argentine Frenchmen in Want.
The grant of the French government of 1,000,000 francs toward the expense of bringing distressed French emigrants in the Argentine Republic back to France is sufficiently significant of the expediency of emigration to that country at this time. Mr. Herbert, British secretary of legation at Buenos Ayres, is clearly at one with the French authorities on this point, for he expresses a hope that the flow thither of British emigration may cease for the present.
The British colonists add to other causes of failure a special difficulty in acquiring the language of the people. His competitor, the Italian laborer, on the contrary, owing to the similarity of the language, climate and habits of the country with what he has been accustomed to, feels himself comparatively at home on landing besides finding himself surrounded by a large number of his countrymen.—Paris Cor. London Telegraph
And is in the Adirondacks.
Visitors from the Chateaugay lakes, Adirondacks, say that the glory of that region of trout and deer has departed. Notwithstanding the liberal stocking that has been done every year, the trout are small and scarce. The miners use gun powder in the spring holes and in the spawning beds, and the hotel keepers are afraid to complain. In addition to this, many of the residents go up the side streams and catch fingerlings by the hundred. This is always fatal to good fishing. As long as the little fish are left undisturbed, the stock is kept up; but going up the little brooks and fishing them out is killing the goose that lays the golden egg.—Forest and Stream.
Voice Figures.
A coming "fad" or pursuit will be that of voice figures. A book on the subject has been written explaining and illustrating this new discovery of the forms produced by the human voice. At a recent reception in London some glass screens were provided, upon which, after certain preparations, were thrown the figures developed by the voice. These were very exact and well defined and resembled a plant or seaweed. We shall undoubtedly have these exhibitions in New York drawing rooms before another season has passed, as the subject is exciting much attention abroad.—New York Times.
Fire Winds.
California, from the Mexican frontier to the redwood regions of Mendocino county, has been visited by a sirocco of the ultra Mediterranean sort. In Fresno, the much advertised paradise of raisin culture and of operative communities, the heat rose to 114 degs. in the shade in Nagra to 110 degs.; in Sonoma to 109, in Healdsburg (on the Russian river, far north of San Francisco) to 108 degs. San Francisco itself escaped, thanks to the unrepresable counter currents of sea winds, but Sacramento, a little further inland, thought itself lucky to get off with 106.—Philadelphia Times.
The Ball Player in Bronze.
The baseball player has long been immortalized in the public prints, but it remained for Douglas Tilden, a deaf mute sculptor of San Francisco, to immortalize him in bronze. Not long ago he completed a handsome statue entitled "The Ball Thrower," and presented it to the city of San Francisco. The figure is of life size and is mounted upon a red granite base and a Montona sandstone pedestal four feet high. The site of the statue is south of the Garfield monument in San Francisco's park.—Bloomington Eye.

THE STATE FAIR.

The Twenty-Mile Race Won In Fifty-Four Minutes.

THE LIVE STOCK ENTRIES.

A Large Crowd at the Grounds—Better Music and Pleasant Weather—The Pavilion.

The third day of the fair dawned with a cloudless sky, and nature was seemingly in her best mood. The day itself, with its cool, crisp air, cloudless sky and welcome sunshine was sufficient to draw every Renoite from home. Early in the day the town was fairly alive, the street crowded, and on every corner knots of men exchanged words of welcome and talked of the races, and gave his dearest friend the coveted "tip." Cars disgorged some of his selections on the corner at 9 o'clock, and soon after the eight-seers started for the track to see the twenty-mile relay race that was to take place at 11 A. M. The hacks were busy all day carrying passengers to and from the grounds. The 10 o'clock fair train from Virginia City brought a number of visitors, who made their way to the track. The tide of travel turned towards the grounds about 11 o'clock, and increased until 1 o'clock, at which time the streets of Reno were all but deserted.

AT THE TRACK.

The grand-stand was comfortably filled, mostly by ladies. It presented a gala appearance, the bright colors and pretty faces giving the scene a pleasant aspect. Between races the ladies exchanged social bets, drank lemonade and played havoc with the peanuts, but while they were lively and animated the starter bell would silence the entire crowd, and as the horses would dash forward all would be expectancy, and as they would near the home stretch all would involuntarily rise, and with bated breath watch the winner pass under the wire, when the winners' favorites would cheer and shake their handkerchiefs and the others, slightly disappointed, would sink into their seats with hopes of better luck next time. Below the grand-stand a perfect mob of men surged to and fro, the pool stands being the center of attraction. The scene beneath the stand was lively, the crowd large and betting spirited. There one can meet his friends from all over the State. Stockmen, bankers, politicians, merchants and horsemen jostled each other in a jovial manner and discussed the live topics of the day.

YESTERDAY'S RACES.

The 20-mile relay race drew a good crowd and proved a most interesting event. The following entered: Monroe Johnson and J. L. Long had five horses and changed every mile. The purse was for $150 which Johnson won in 54 minutes. The race created a good deal of interest.

The first race in the afternoon was 7/8 of a mile. The following entries were made: Delmar, Montana and Canny Scott.

Delmar was a prime favorite in the pools, selling rapidly at 8 to 1. Montana and Canny Scott in the field. With such liberal backing the odds were tempting and many thought the field a dead winner. At the signal Delmar and Canny Scott took the lead. Montana was not "in it." Canny Scott weakened on the home stretch and Delmar forged in an easy winner. Time 1:30.

The second event was a trotting race, 2:25 class, best three in five, with the following entries: Mand Patchen, Pasha and Vidette. Mand Patchen trotted a very even race. In the first heat Patchen was winner and Pasha was ruled out. Time 2:28. In the second heat Vidette kept breaking and Patchen again came in an easy winner. Time, 2:28 1/2. Patchen was the favorite throughout the pool selling. The third heat was won by Patchen. Time 2:29.

The third event was a trotting race, 2:50 class, with the following entries: Flora Bell, Here, Anteo, Jr., and Esmeralda. THE PAVILION.

A large crowd visited the Pavilion last evening, and all were pleased with the exhibition. Some of the exhibits are yet to be placed, but nearly all the space is filled. The attention of the reporter was called to the following exhibits on the lower floor:

The Riverside Mill has a large pyramid of soaked flour, meal, rolled oats, cracked wheat, etc.

A sagebrush of mammoth size, over 14 feet high, a regular tree, in fact, sent in from Little Winnemucca Valley, near Pyramid Lake.

The Reno Manufacturing Co. makes a fine display of wagons, carrying, harness and other useful articles.

The County Poor Farm contributes a splendid show of vegetables, fruits, preserves, etc. This display is very creditable to the thriftiness of this county institution, and while not entered in competition against other exhibitors, it shows the public that the institution is carefully managed.

Theo. Winter makes a splendid show of chesses, manufactured at his factory in Washoe Valley.

A. H. Manning's hardware, glassware and crockery exhibit in very pretty.

The Experiment Station at the University takes over 40 feet of space and is a very interesting exhibit. Ramps, the plant that grows without irrigation, and in arid and rocky soils, also tobacco, sorghum, vegetables, cereals and a great variety of plants, not generally grown in the State. Taking the exhibition as a whole, it is certainly worth the while of visitors to observe closely, and much knowledge of the possibilities of our soil and climate may be gained.

Geo. Crum of Lander county has a fine sample of rye raised without irrigation.

A very nice display of grapes of several varieties is made by several exhibitors.

W. K. Ball and E. A. Moore have a splendid display of honey.

W. H. Gould has some butter from his creamery.

ON THE UPPER FLOOR.

The first thing to notice is the very artistic and tasteful decorations. Credit is due Mrs. I. B. Marshall who superintended the work.

The fancy and handwork takes up a large space and the exhibitors are numerous. The display is very interesting, particularly to the ladies, and later on we will mention the work in detail.

The Inyo Marble Works, of Marmol, Nevada, have a pretty show of their handiwork.

Jno. Brenner of Sacramento, and E. C. Sessions of Reno give displays of furniture, draperies, rugs, mats and house furnishings.

S. Emrich of Reno, draperies, dry and fancy goods, fans, rugs and other novelties.

John Sunderland, boots, shoes and gent's furnishing goods.

The White Sewing Machine Company present a fine show.

H. S. Beck of Virginia, musical instruments.

Richard Herz of Reno, jewelry. In the exhibit imitations of all the great historical diamonds are shown, and every one will have an opportunity to judge of the brilliancy and size of these great stones.

A great number of paintings and other pretty things are to be seen, and of which more particular mention will be made.

Swisher & Bender have a fine exhibit of photographs.

The pavilion exhibit promises to be the best ever had, and will pay a visitor to spend a little time in looking around.

Why Dr. Price's Baking Powder is Superior to all others.

No great efforts are made by other manufacturers to procure and use pure materials.

It is true that one other company has the facilities, but its greed and cupidity induced it in an evil hour to use ammonia, in order to swell its profits. Hence the Price Baking Powder Company stands alone in its fight for a pure baking powder.

No other article of human food receives greater care in its production, or has attained higher perfection. Dr. Price's Cream is surely a perfect baking powder. Free from every taint of impurity. No other article used in the kitchen has so many steadfast friends among the housewives of America.

IT WAS A GREAT SCHEME.

But Lack of Capital Prevented the Inventor from Making a Fortune.

My friend B. isn't rich. It isn't likely that he ever will be rich. But he firmly believes that he would have been a very rich man by this time if he had only been able to command a little capital a few years ago.

When he conceived the great scheme which might have realized a fortune for him he was a clerk in a gas works. It wasn't one of your new fangled works where they make gas out of water, and heaven knows what besides, but one of the old fashioned, honest sort in which gas was extracted from coal and nothing else. Everybody is supposed to know, and of course doesn't know, that one of the chief impurities of the crude gas, after it is expelled from the coal by the fierce heat of the retorts, is sulphur. This sulphur, or the larger portion of it, is got rid of by passing the gas through a series of boxes called purifiers filled with lime. When the lime has absorbed all the sulphur that it is capable of holding it is removed and fresh lime is substituted. The sulphur saturated lime emits a very pungent and disagreeable odor, especially when the cover is first lifted from the box and the lime, being hot, throws off clouds of steam.

Some doctors have a notion, whether well or ill founded I don't pretend to know, that this hot, foul smelling vapor is a capital remedy for whooping cough. At all events lots of mothers believe them, and when whooping cough is prevalent bring their afflicted little ones to the nearest gas works to inhale it. It was when several suffering youngsters were snuffing up the vapor and the odor around one of the purifying boxes where he worked that the inspiration seized him. It was nothing less than to take this foul lime, bottle it up, give it a high sounding name and sell it as a specific for whooping cough, offering a reward of $500 for any case that it couldn't cure, and all that sort of thing.

"Jeewhittaker!" he exclaimed, enthusiastically, when expounding the scheme to me. "Just think of the dead loads of money that is in it! The lime doesn't cost anything; the company pays to have it carted away. I can make a contract with them to do the carting and make some money out of it. Then all the expense I will be put to will be for bottles, labels and advertising. At fifty cents a bottle it is bound to go like hot cakes. There is always more or less whooping cough around, it is an ill wind that blows nobody good. If I am not a rich man inside of twelve months my name isn't B."

He invested fifty dollars—the sum total of his accumulated savings—in bottles. Then he sought the assistance of capitalists. That is where he struck a snag. He found their lack of faith was proportionate to the extent of their resources. His name is still B.; he still has the bottle, but not even the beginning of a fortune yet.

It was a big scheme, and he was very proud of having hatched it and delights to talk about the millions that are still in it—for somebody with faith and capital.—New York Herald.

Shooting Guns at Night.

Illuminated night sights are now in use on the guns of many of the British warships. The front sight consists of a pale green glass, pointed up, beneath which is placed a small incandescent lamp. The rear sight is similar in principle, except that instead of the cone there is a metal crossbar with a V notch in the middle.

There is a polished under surface to this sight from which light that first passes through ruby glass is reflected. In sighting the pale green point of light which constitutes the forward sight is brought to the bottom of the V notch in the rear sight and the line of the ruby light is brought into coincidence with it. The electric current for each gun is supplied by a battery of two elements, so arranged that the action may be stopped by turning the battery upside down.—Philadelphia Record.

The Effect of Travel.

It is impossible to compare nations as if they were individuals. Each nation has, so to speak, grown up in an atmosphere of its own. We must recognize the peculiarities of other people as necessary features of them, and by no means as characteristics meant to excite laughter in the rest of the world. When first I traveled abroad I was much amused by the way the common German amts with his knife. But habit and a measure of experience have toned down these feelings until they hardly exist in me. And nowadays I am as much at home with the long haired woodman of a Sardinian forest, in his grimy little hut, as in my own English den among my books and pictures.—All the Year Round.

Nose Ornaments of Barbarians.

The ornaments put through the walls of the nose vary greatly. There may be but one perforation in each wall or there may be several. In New Zealand flowers, in New Guinea a boar's tusk, in the Solomon Islands a crab's claw, in New Britain thorns, set upright, are the objects thus worn. These are all original and primitive; after the natives come in contact with whites, these give place to metal buttons and rings. In the Sturges collection is a rather pretty nose ornament from New Guinea. It is V shaped, and the arms fit by stud shanks, one into each wall of the nose.—Professor Frederick Starr in Popular Science Monthly.

An Estimate of Woman's Value.

A young Scotchman was once halting between two loves, one possessed of beauty and the other of a cow. In despair of arriving at a decision he applied for advice to a canny compatriot, who delivered himself thus, "Marry the lass that has the cow, for there's no the deefereence o' a cow's value in any twa women in Christendom."—San Francisco Argonaut.

BACILLI IN BLOOD.

Recent experiments as read before the last Congress of Surgeons at Berlin, leave no doubt that the true way to CURE THE SYSTEM OF MICROBI is through the pores of the skin. It has been found that a remedy which kills the Microbi will also destroy the life of the patient; but it has also been found that the Microbi can be forced out through the skin, and it is in this way that the remedy relieves the system of poison.

HAVING SUFFERED much from Contagious Blood Poison, after using half a dozen bottles of SSS, I WAS RESTORED TO PERFECT HEALTH, and all eruptive sores disappeared. You are at liberty to make any use of my statement that you wish. T. CONROY BRON, 203 Third Avenue, Pittsburg, Pa.
